MADE (Modern Architecture Design Experience), a nonprofit organization that produces Modernism Week in Palm Springs and other events and educational opportunities, partnered with the City of Beverly Hills to produce this new festival.

About MADE:
The non-profit organization that produces Modernism Week has a new identity to share with the public: MADE, an acronym for Modern Architecture Design Experiences.

Under the expanded brand name MADE will continue working as they have for the last 18 years to produce year-round programming in the Palm Springs area. MADE productions include Modernism Week in February, Modernism Week – October, small group Architecture Tours by Modernism Week from October-May, and group travel excursions, like Modernism Week at Sea and other curated architecturally-focused trips.
MADE provides a platform for future growth and educational efforts throughout southern California and beyond. Proceeds from this event will support MADE (dba Modernism Week), a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that produces public events and creates educational opportunities that celebrate and foster appreciation of midcentury architecture and design, as well as contemporary thinking in these fields throughout southern California and beyond.
